

#99-0015-Energy
Challenges

I, Thor, the Ultra Energy of the Universal All That Is, am with you on this day and in this mode of communicating for you to understand what is taking place with the earth, with the inhabitants of the earth and therefore with all that is, in and around the earth in what you term 'space'.

Your space stations in the air are causing a few challenges of course, but the main concern is the damage that it is doing to those inhabitants on earth. That means all trees, plants, creatures, humans, and all that is required to have life on earth, which enlists the water sources, the earth's gifts, the air's potential for living and in that fashion, it is to be noted that change is taking place. BUT, the changes that are required are being distributed to those who know and those who don't and, in that fashion, it is necessary to spread the information in a form of energy flow that is accepted and does not 'stir any feathers'. Thank you indeed.

People of the earth at this timing are being connected to an increased formation of energy from the earth itself, as it increases its vibrational rate. When that happens, it means everything on earth needs to accept the increase and continue living a different form of life than they had previously. As the earth becomes healthier, the trees and plants become healthier. As the water becomes healthier, then all of the plants and vegetation as well as creatures in the waters, become healthier. The same happens with the air and all that resides in the air in order to live on earth. So, what happens to humans at the same timing? Well, that is interesting. The forms of life on earth, other than humans, do not have any emotions. You think of emotions when you cry or get really angry or maybe you feel upset in some fashions and you accept those emotions without question, because they have always been with you in this lifetime. The inhabitants on earth are changing their vibrational rate without question or have made the decision not to continue with their personal life and therefore pass away, as you call it. That seems normal at this timing. In addition, not all squirrels or foxes or beavers want to remain with humans who are having such a busy time of changing right now. So, all of nature has a choice as well as humans and by doing so, the energies continue to alter in the normal form of birth and death, and experience the largest vibrational rate changes that the earth has ever experienced.

The earth has been an educational centre for millions of years and it is being taken for granted in many, many ways. Now, it is altering substantially and everything in the Universal All That Is, is being affected and effected. It will never be the 'earth as an educational facility' again, as it was previously. The old mode is no longer acceptable. You will find in the world itself, that the earth being an educational facility and altering it substantially, is causing challenges in all areas of the education facilities as well. Some are heading towards including nature and some are heading towards privatization by those with money to influence who is a student and who is not. Some countries are almost providing a form of education that relegates nature to the bottom or least form of teaching, so the more important aspects of life are taken care of in the realms of money management and growth. So, the whole world is changing its thoughts about education. Some are very positive for humans themselves, and some are discriminating in many forms of what was, what is and what will be. Thank you indeed.

Energy flow is exquisite when accepted for what it means, but sometimes people feel that they are the controllers of energy flow and that is a challenge right now. Each person has a choice of course and it is theirs only. Each person has their own choice. So, what is taking place, is that some people understand the value of positive energy flow and some people understand the power of negative energy flow. The earth's education facility is one of duality. It needs to be opposites, such as light and dark in your life itself, but some think it is lightness of touch and darkness of force. That produces a challenge at this timing. If you want the light only, you are not understanding the opposite and its pricelessness. However, if you want force, then you are not understanding energy flow at its vibrational rate.

Light indicates the ability to sense all that is within you and all that you are able to note in the world that you created. You recognize sleep and wakefulness and accept your life in its beauty of sharing your abilities.

Dark indicates a timing for rest, sleep and communicating with your energy body itself. That means you are refreshing yourself for the next light day and all you are able to learn and understand about you and your ability usage.

What is happening however, is that too much force or forms of control are taking place in the world. The people in charge of these happenings are not understanding energy flow itself, they just understand forms of control by their standards of what living is all about.

All countries in the world are learning about what is happening in the earth's changes right now. Some countries are leaning towards the light and energy flow itself, which includes everything on earth and all that it is offering to humans to assist in their learning. It means flowing with what is being offered by the light and dark and how that changes each season, by the nature that flows in those seasons and of course in the concept that you are here to learn about life at its best when life is flowing, instead of stopping and starting.

Other countries are looking at the darker portions of life – not going with nature at all and no recognition that the energy flows in seasons and therefore they are utilizing their forms of control over others to bring them more of something that is called 'power over'. That is a form of a game to some, a future of power in their governments and therefore an egotistical concept of what is right for them and wrong for others, and they are foraging in the mode of political control, so they are in charge of everything. However, nature is still within their countries, as is the energy flow of the earth. As the vibrational rate increases, their demands will become more and that is what is happening right now. They are feeling the demands of the energy flow and are determined to have their way. However, the earth's energy flow is much stronger than they realize and soon it will be noticed that what they are doing will unbalance the power they are affecting and effecting in their country and in their personal lives. Thank you indeed.

Honour what is happening within yourself. Allow yourself to recognize which countries are living with nature as their teacher and which countries are relying on someone's idea of what is good at this timing. Allow yourself to recognize that money is on the dark side at this timing as is sexual promiscuity. That is the challenge at this timing. Both money and sexual promiscuity bring a lack of honour to the use of your ability, to the feeling of grace that you feel when you have achieved in your personal life. It also means that you are able to understand energy flow within yourself and when you are feeling the dark within you and surrounding you. It could be called fear, but it is simply a neglect of looking at yourself as part of the energy flow of the universal all that is, and how the energy is always flowing. You simply need to flow with it at the same timing. Not a hard place to be, but a gift to yourself on this day. Thank you indeed.

As a summation – the earth is altering its vibrational rate. You, as a human, are able to decide if you like the light which means a balanced energy flow on earth with all that is on earth working together. Or you are able to choose the dark and miss out on sensing the beauty of what is being offered, as you do your best to control what you are doing, how you are doing it and not recognizing who you are.

Thank you indeed. And good day.
