

MONETARY

I, Quaw, the Ultra Energy of the Universal All That Is, am with you on this day and in this manner of connection, in order to share some vital information to you personally. That is because the changes taking place throughout the world due to the earth's vibrational rate changes, are ready for you to indulge in or to neglect fully. Or maybe they offer you a tingle in the mind and therefore you are open to receiving some information of note for you personally. Thank you indeed.

I'm sure you are wondering what is happening to you these days. Perhaps your taste buds are changing and what was acceptable previously is no longer desired – that is for the foods and beverages aspect of your life. Or perhaps the taste buds for what is acceptable in forms of entertainment have altered and now you want to see something that is more respectable to you and yours. Or maybe, just maybe, you are elevating your thoughts and recognizing that your opinion is more important than that of the reigns of society these days. Are you more accepting of the negative or the positive aspects of life, do you think? That is quite a question really. Sometimes it seems detrimental to go against society, or to go against the warfare that is taking place. Now that you are aware that everything happens for the reason of educating those in the tangles of life, you can look at what seems respectful and what does not.

There are definitely changes in the winds these days, in the amount of precipitation, no matter what stage it is in, and of course in the temperatures in your area of the world. Changes that allow you to note that the weather is definitely part of your life and if they are altering, it means that you are too. So, what is the cause of those changes? Is that the question of the day? Or is it that you are asking what relevance it has to you personally? Well, all changes are happening to rid of the old and no longer desired and they are all pointing to the acceptance of respect, loving thoughts, and pronounced niceness to yourself and others. But the old and formerly neglected is coming to the surface, so no one on earth is left with lingering aspects within themselves. That means that exposure is taking place, so you are able to gaze at it and wonder what that part of yourself means.

There is a word in society that seems to have one meaning only, but in the energy world, there is always an opposite to it as noted while on earth. Thank you indeed. Energy is in each letter, in each word and in each meaning of the word and then added to it, is the meaning of the energy being spoken or written by the person that is utilizing it. Thank you indeed.

In most of your circumstances in your world, the word MONETARY is attached to money. However, that is very one-sided, and it is also not correct in its description. The word monetary means a form of wealth and the wealth is depicted as to your thoughts, your words and your actions, plus your energy components that are divided into those that are negative and positive. Now each person's idea of negative and positive may vary—you think it is positive and someone else thinks it is negative or vice-versa.

So, let us look at all the negative aspects of the word monetary. Firstly, it means a value. It means the concept of having and how much. It means what you might or might not know about personally. It means a desire to know more, have more or be more. But it is always left wanting, if you noticed. Now, the positive aspects of the word are that it means wealth of knowledge, wealth of confidence in yourself, wealth of your desires and achievements to know more about a topic of interest. It means the value you place upon yourself as a whole, your physical body attributes and how you are able to achieve more with time and attention. It means the value of the spoken words, and the expressions of those words. It means how well you know yourself and accept that knowledge. It means that you are a portion of something bigger and larger than you as a human, but also you as part of the world at large. Monetary is the word that you are wanting to engage in at this timing.

Firstly, it is the word that describes how you feel about yourself. Now that means in truth. Do you value yourself highly at this timing and recognize your value to the energy flow of the world at this timing? I imagine you will, but you need to acquire varying positive thoughts to acquire the balance within yourself to recognize your value as a whole, rather than deciphering your whole into many parts that sometimes seem good and sometimes seem bad. Thank you indeed.

Now, it is also the time to value your position on earth. Is it comfortable in your own world or is it not? Are you living where you want to live and living with the people you want to live with, or is it time to change whatever you desire, deep inside of you? You are energy and you are connected to the energy of the earth itself, and it and nature provide you with the amount of sun, the amount of precipitation and the amount of interferences that the weather is capable of throughout the world. Each area will receive varying amounts, and what is your most comfortable? If you are in an area you do not care for, your monetary value is lowered, but if you are in a comfortable area for you personally, your monetary value rises. It is that simple.

Now, if you are the one that is designating your monetary value to yourself, you will need to really look at not only your location of living day to day, but also the value you place yourself upon with your food and beverage intake, the amount of timing you have outside rather than just inside and of course, the amount of time you feel it is possible to be comfortable in either area of your life.

So, monetary value will include your state of comfort, your belief in yourself and in the position you have to receive your thoughts clearly and able then to implement them. It means the moving of your physical body to keep it flexible at all timings and the amount of time you provide to yourself to listen to more of what you desire and what you would love to share in your lifestyle at this timing. We are not talking anything to do with money, simply monetary value of who you are, how you are and what you are. Remember that always. You came to the earth to learn about yourself, and it is the timing to do so, in a fashion that is more than just physical in nature, and you are ready to utilize your senses to upgrade the monetary value of yourself. Thank you indeed.

When you utilize your five senses on a regular basis, you are alerted to what you see, what you hear, what you feel or touch, what you smell and what you taste. But that monetary value is normally a perspective of what you are to yourself. It is time to upgrade that and so it is suggested that you really use the five senses to tell the truth about what you are all about and then reach out to increase those senses to include the value you have for yourself, as a human being, as a physical being and as an energy being.

Thank you indeed and good day.
