

MANIPULATIONS

I, Thor, the Ultra Energy of the Universal All That Is, am with you on this day and in this mode of communication to inform you about yourself just a tad bit, to encourage you to learn more about yourself in a massive bit and to enjoy the results in a huge bit. Thank you indeed.

‘On this day and in this mode of communication’ is a statement unto itself. You recognize that ‘on this day’ means the day that you are reading, listening to or identifying with the information that I have produced on your behalf. In addition, you will note that ‘mode’ means the type of communication that you are able to understand at this timing. The ‘communication’ means the information that is being submitted to you, to assist you to learn more about yourself.

So, on this day and in this mode of you understanding what is being stated, I am going to enlighten you to a bit of human history. Human beings have been on earth to study about themselves — life does not seem like a study to some, but it is a timing wherein you are learning about yourself each and every moment of the day. You change physically, mentally or emotionally or all three at the same timing. You learn about yourself and your connection to your spiritual self or energy self at each moment as well, but it is not noted quite often, because humans are so busy living life to the fullest, they haven’t figured out what that means at all. Thank you indeed.

You are on the earth at this timing to find out about any ability you might have that will honour you as a person, might bring you to the light of understanding how talented you are at the ability, and using that ability, you would be contributing to the positive aspects of energy in the world itself. Yes, what you do moment-by-moment, propels either positive or negative energy around the world. You are valuable, obviously, but have not noted that value at all. You think what you are doing is producing money and that is all. Your thoughts are the energy and if your thoughts are about you and your ability and you put them together, the energy flow is quite strong and protective of yourself — at the same time, you share with everyone in the world.

Just imagine what that might look like, if every person in the world would use their personal ability on behalf of their thoughts – the outcome would be that everyone was confident in themselves. If they shared with others, they would be astounded at the results. What a learning and a form of ‘doing’ and ‘being’ on earth for everybody.

Now, you may not notice that what I have just stated belongs to you, but it does. What ability do you have? What thoughts propel that ability to be used and shared or denied application? Do you listen to your thoughts? Do you disengage because of fear of the unknown or are you open to any possibilities and let it happen? Quite the questions and you have the answers. Abilities and emotions are yours and it is time to see what comes from your thoughts to go with either the ability usage or the emotional wastage. Your choice of course.

Just think about this one aspect of yourself. You have an ability or two or three that are quite magnificent and are able to be implemented with positive thoughts about yourself. BUT you also are full of emotions or old feelings that need to be noted and let go. They are being noted, by yourself and others, by the way, but a change of thought will eliminate them from your torso and allow you freedom to be you. That is why you are on the earth at this timing. You, your ability usage and ridding of emotions.

Thank you indeed and good day.